COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Saturday, July 21, 1906.

D. E. O'KEEFE, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

A Scheme Is Ripening to Annex a Part of San Mateo to San Francisco County.

The Call of Thursday contains the following article. This question has been agitated before, so that it is nothing new to the people of this county. We don't believe the citizens of this county want to lose their individuality by becoming a part of San Francisco. There would be nothing to gain and perhaps much to lose.

"A movement for annexing a part of San Mateo county to the city and county of San Francisco, which was under consideration long before the fire, is about to take substantial form. At the meeting of the next Legislature the whole plan will be submitted and urged to a conclusion. General W. H. H. Hart has been retained by those interested and he is confident the proposal will receive not only the approval of the legislative authorities but of a large majority of the votes of the people dwelling in San Mateo county. Years ago the annexation of the whole of San Mateo county to the city and county of San Francisco was seriously entertained, and but for the opposition of a certain element who saw in the proposal a new scheme of political aggrandizement it would have been effected.

"Public opinion was then powerless and the union, though strongly advocated by some, failed of approval and was shelved for a more opportune time. In the opinion of the very best element of that part of San Mateo county it is proposed to annex the present tract it is best for the movement to take substantial form.

"The plan is to join all that part of San Mateo county lying north of the 37.30 degree of latitude, which would include that part of the county lying north of a line running just south of San Carlos station and extending from the bay to the ocean and including Halfmoon Bay. This area is 14 1/4 miles wide at its widest and 14 1/2 miles long from north to south. Not including the marsh lands which are submerged at high tide the plan would add to San Francisco county approximately 124 square miles.

"The portion of San Mateo county strongly in favor of annexation includes the towns of Colma, South San Francisco, San Bruno, Burlingame, Belmont, Millbrae, Baden and the city of San Mateo. A very large majority of the people living in the northern part of San Mateo are in business in San Francisco. They are in favor of more progress than it is possible to get under a government controlled by the farming interests. Moreover, in the matter of taxes it has been found that they are actually less in the city of San Francisco than in San Mateo. Many far-seeing capitalists of San Francisco look to an immense extension of the city and regard the movement for its enlargement as demanded by the outlook in the future.

"It is confidently said that every vested interest in the northern part of San Mateo county is strongly in favor of the movement, and that every taxpayer desires it as a means of raising values. It is estimated the strip on the north contains upward of 20,000 inhabitants.

"Were 124 square miles taken off San Mateo county there would still remain 335 square miles, almost enough to form another county of the same name if it was desired to perpetuate the old traditions, but if some compensation was demanded for the loss of the northern part of the county as much might be gained by a small part of Santa Clara, which would gladly, it is said, turn its fortunes to San Mateo. Should a strip eight miles wide decide to part from Santa Clara and join its northern neighbor the new San Mateo would then be even larger than now. The new county would embrace an area as large, if not larger, than at present, would have a population of 30,000 and extend from bay to ocean and be much more compact and homogeneous than it is now.

"By a junction San Francisco would acquire about twenty seven miles of bay shore which, in view of the future outlook, will be necessary to its commerce in a few years. As a part of San Francisco this shore will be the site of great manufactures. Another reason, a purely sentimental one, though none the less powerful, is the location of the cemeteries outside the city.

"Within the 124 square miles added to the present forty seven included in the area of this city San Francisco will have a total area of 171 square miles. Compared with other cities of the country, Philadelphia has 129.5 square miles; Chicago, 190; New York, 309; New Orleans, 191; Boston 43 and Pittsburgh, before its late enlargement, 28.39 square miles."

Republican Convention.

It would be a graceful thing of the Republican county committee to fix the meeting place of the nominating convention at Halfmoon Bay this year. The people of the coast are desirous of securing it and have a fine large hall where the meeting could be held. The delegates could be accommodated nicely there too. The coast is out of the way a little but it should have good thing once in a while. A large Republican vote is returned from that section every year.
